COOLIDGE MAY VETO TAX BILL

Secretary Mellon Finds Compromise Unsatisfactory.

WILL SO REPORT TO PRESIDENT

Bill as it stands will have depressing effect on business in general, the Secretary believes—Also Feels It Will Not Produce Sufficient Revenue—Insurgents Seek Farm Relief Legislation.

Washington, May 23.—The tax reduction bill now before the senate and house conferees is not acceptable to Secretary of Treasury Mellon and he will recommend to President Coolidge that he veto the bill.

This announcement was made at the treasury department, in behalf of Secretary Mellon.

In the opinion of the secretary the bill will have a depressing rather than stimulating effect on business in general. Mellon is disappointed that none of the reforms which "would have increased revenue" has been embodied in the bill and is said to believe the bill will not produce sufficient revenue, not only for the first year, but year by year to run the government.

The higher brackets Mellon feels can not be expected to become productive and the $12,000,000 increase which will result from the new estate tax will be more than offset by the breaking down of values and the wiping out of a source of revenue which would increase later tax revenue. Even the limited publicity provisions are considered indefensible by Mellon in that they expose the private affairs of business men without increasing revenue in the slightest.

Insurgents in congress who have swung their decisive votes to the Democrats in the every partisan tilt on important legislation to date find themselves deserted by their allies. Not only will the Democrats vote with Republicans to endorse the compromise tax bill which contains the Democratic income tax rates by virtue of Progressive support, but minority leaders will aid the Republicans in getting adjournment by June 7. The progressives thus find themselves with their ambitious program of farm relief and railroad legislation shunted into the background.

Leaders of both parties in both houses are preparing to put through the new tax bill by next Tuesday, make a gesture at passing the McNary-Haugen bill desired by the Progressives and then adjourn.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, brought the conference report on the tax bill before the senate today for action. It is expected to be disposed of and sent to the house Saturday for final action before Tuesday.

YANKEE FLIERS AT TOKIO

Resting Up After Longest Day's Flight of Their Trip.

Tokio, May 23.—America's around-the-world fliers arrived at Kasumigaura naval base outside of Tokio. Lieutenants Smith, Nelson and Wade, first of the international fliers to reach the Japanese capital, winked down from the north to a tremendous reception. Representatives of the Japanese government and the war and navy departments went to Kasumigaura to greet them.

With the longest day's flight of their journey thus far behind them, the fliers are resting here. Between dawn and dusk they covered 720 miles, stopping only briefly at Minato to refuel. The aviators were in high spirits despite the fatigue, and glad that the most difficult portion of their journey has been accomplished.

Believes Wheeler Innocent.

Washington, May 23.—Senator Sterling (Rep., S. D.) who has fought exoneration of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, admitted on the floor of the senate that he believed Wheeler was innocent of charges against him. Sterling defended his report.

Cleveland, May 23.—Patsy Natali, 55, died from a fractured skull received when he was struck by an auto. Louis B. Roberts, 30, of Conneaut, O., was hurled 50 yards when a train struck his truck at Willoughby. He may die.

Eleven of the 71 men, including leading citizens of Mobile, Ala., rounded up in an anti-booze crusade, were found guilty by a jury in federal court.

TAKE OFFICE OUT OF CABINET

Crim Would Divorce Justice Department from Politics.

APPEARS BEFORE COMMITTEE

Declares Danger Now Is That a Corporation or Gang of Crooks May Land a Man in the Department and Ruin Government's Case Against Them—Red Menace Mostly Talk, Says Ex-Assistant Attorney General.

Washington, May 23.—Testifying before the senate Daugherty committee, John W. Crim, former assistant attorney general, held that the office of attorney general should be taken out of the cabinet to keep the department of justice away from politics.

Witness said the danger now is that a large corporation or a gang of crooks may land a man in the department and ruin the government's case against them. He gave the committee the benefit of his observations obtained from three years in charge of all federal criminal prosecutions. He is now a special prosecutor in charge of veterans' bureau cases.

Crim said: "I never was able to find the army of reds said to have been led by Senators France and Borah. There were detectives who would want you to believe that there was a red army marching on Washington, but I found it was mostly talk." Crim had charge of "red" investigations. He stated the department of justice did not make any "red" investigations of senators and congressmen.

"Don't you know that former Attorney General Daugherty took great pride in his activities in suppressing the red menace?" Brookhart asked. "Well, there may have been a menace, but I didn't know about it."

Crim claimed that nine-tenths of the personnel of the bureau of investigation could be retired without injuring the efficiency of the department of justice. He was questioned about the influence of the late Jesse Smith in the department.

"I was told that he was a close friend of the attorney general," Crim testified, "that he had no mental capacity or ability of his own, but that he was particularly useful in running errands for the attorney general. It would take a lot of evidence to show me that Harry Daugherty ever took a cent from Jesse Smith or knew that Smith was collecting any graft."

Chairman Brookhart announced receipt of a telegram from Hiram Todd of New York, special assistant attorney general in charge of prosecuting Gaston B. Means on a conspiracy charge, flatly denying testimony of W. O. Duckstein before the committee.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY

Man Shoots Former Wife, Her Husband and Himself.

Los Angeles, May 23.—Mrs. William Milligan, a bride of two days, was shot to death and William Milligan, a world war veteran, was probably fatally wounded by Isaac Hico, who won Mrs. Milligan's heart after she thought her first love had died in France. Hico then turned his weapon on himself with fatal effect.

In 1907 Edith Blake and Milligan were married. When the war came Milligan went to France with the American forces. Several months later he was reported killed in action. His wife grieved for a year and then married Hico. But Hico had a romance in Europe, and his American wife had the marriage annulled when she learned of the other woman. Then Milligan, released from a German prison at the end of the war, found her after a long search. They were remarried last Monday, and the triple tragedy was enacted yesterday.

Columbus, May 23.—Clyde Fravel, 45, farmer, shot and killed his wife, Amy Fravel, at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lulu Fravel, in Harlem township, Delaware county, and then committed suicide. The Fravels had been making their home with the sister-in-law. Fravel was committed to the Columbus state hospital from Delaware county Feb. 2, 1924. His wife took him out of the institution, the records show, on a trial visit March 22. He had not been returned since that time.

Coroner's Finding.

Conneaut, O., May 23.—A verdict of a murder and a suicide was returned by Coroner Carl M. Dewey, following an investigation into the deaths of Mrs. Katherine Jones Ott, 25, and Robert D. Johnson, 32, whose bodies were found here in the woman's auto. Both were shot through the heart. The verdict states that one of the couple shot and killed the other and then committed suicide.

Ford Buys More Land.

London, O., May 23.—Henry Ford has taken an option on a tract of land near South Charleston, Madison county, which forms the junction of the D. T. & I. with a county road. It is planned to use the tract for a new road and eliminate the grade crossing at this point. The Ford interests now control more than 2,000 acres of land in and near the village.

FATE OF FARM BILL IN DOUBT

Advocates Claim Enough Votes to Insure Passage.

OP-ONENTS SEE ITS DEFEAT

Measure Again Before the House, Where a Vote May Be Had Within a Few Days—World Court Proposal Offered by Senator King, Error in Method of Computing Bonus Discovered.

Washington, May 23.—Fate of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, which is again before the house, is problematical.

Advocates of the measure insist they have enough votes to insure its passage, while opponents of the bill predict its defeat.

Hope for a vote this week practically has been abandoned, because of the failure of the house to muster a quorum to proceed with discussion of the bill until more than two hours had been spent in rounding up absentees, and the consequent calling off of a night session.

Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, obtained an agreement, however, under which the house met at 11 a. m., an hour earlier than usual, with the understanding that it would adjourn at 7 p. m.

Senator King (Dem., Utah) offered in the senate a resolution providing for entrance of the United States into the world court with reservations. The resolution demands that American participation be predicated upon an amendment to the league of nations protocol exempting the United States from compulsory jurisdiction of the tribunal and that the court statute be altered to give the United States equality in the selection of judges and that entrance of this republic into the court shall not be taken to mean that it assumes any of the obligations of Part I of the peace of Versailles.

Actuaries of the veterans' bureau informed members of congress that the list of "factors" prepared by them and recently made public for computing the amounts of insurance due under the bonus law took into account the extra 25 per cent of adjusted service compensation allowed by the bill on insurance certificates. This means that a veteran in computing the value of the insurance policy he will receive simply will multiply his credits at $1.25 a day for foreign service and $1 a day for home service by his factor, which previously has been made public. The extra 25 per cent is not to be added as heretofore announced.

WISHART MAKES PLEA FOR ENDING WAR

Moderator Addresses Presbyterian General Assembly.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 23.—In his address to the Presbyterian general assembly, Dr. Charles F. Wishart of Wooster, O., retiring moderator, declared that civilization can not longer exist upon the basis of colossal military preparations in every nation.

The moderator's address was largely a plea for ending war. He scored "congressional carelessness" in dealing with the "sensibilities of friendly nations," a reference which was taken as a direct rebuke to congress in the Japanese exclusion situation.

Touching on the attempt of "nullifiers of law" to weaken the eighteenth amendment, Dr. Wishart declared that the church must have something to say about it and that "she has but a single message." That is, he said, "if just law for the protection of our citizenship and the conservation of our manhood is broken, then by the grace of God we shall not scrap the law, but we shall scrap the law breakers."

Three candidates appeared to be in the race for the moderatorship of the Presbyterian church. The contest is between fundamentalists and the modernists, with the former backing Dr. Charles E. Macartney of Philadelphia and the modernists supporting Dr. Charles Erdman of Princeton, N. J. Dr. Joseph A. Vance was being talked of among the delegates as a possible compromise candidate.

CRITICISES DONAHEY

Former Mayor Curtis Alleges He Did Not Have Fair Hearing.

Columbus, May 23.—Counsel for C. C. Curtis, former mayor of Canton, filed amended briefs in supreme court in which Governor Donahey and his recent trial of Curtis, removed from office for his alleged lax law enforcement, are sharply criticised.

The governor is charged with having "prejudiced" the case and with having denied to Mayor Curtis a "fair and unprejudiced hearing." The briefs say that the charges against Mayor Curtis were prepared by Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, who "sat with the governor" during the trial and "advised and counseled" with him relative to the admission or rejection of evidence. The governor, the briefs add, "permitted himself to be persuaded, influenced and controlled in his rulings and decisions by McDonald," so that Curtis did not get "a full and fair opportunity to be heard in his defense."

The whole trial was illegal, the brief alleges, because there was no written complaint signed by 20 per cent of the voters, as required, according to Curtis' counsel, under the statutes and constitution.

Curtis has a mandamus petition, seeking to compel Donahey to reinstate him, and an ouster proceeding, seeking the ouster from office of his successor, Mayor Charles M. Ball, pending in supreme court. The court has set June 7 as answer day in both cases.

Repair Shade and Ornamental Trees

Suggestions on Proper Methods to Follow in Mending Damage of Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The extensive injury and destruction of trees of all kinds during the winter season has brought many inquiries to the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the proper methods to be followed in repairing the damage done. The following suggestions are made by the department:

The first thing that should be done
is to remove such large broken branches as are now, or may become, a menace to life and property; this is usually best done by cutting at the point where broken. Attention should then be given to injuries on the main trunk. If limbs have been split, or partially split, from the main trunk,
all splintered wood about the wound
should be removed with a sharp gouge and mallet, if not so situated that it can be sawed off. The scar should be smoothed in the manner indicated in Farmers' Bulletin 1178, Tree Surgery, and treated as an open cavity, or as a large surface wound, as the case may necessitate.

Repair Larger Branches.

Attention should next be given to repairing the injuries on the larger branches in a similar manner, and last of all to the smaller branches.
Sometimes when a limb is broken away the tree is so weakened at the point of breakage that it may again
break in a severe wind, and to obviate this the top must be pruned back more or less severely. In case of split crotches, the advice given in Farmers' Bulletin 1178 should be followed regarding the general treatment, including bolting through and above
the crack.

In cases of estates where a great amount of injury has occurred, and only a comparatively small force is available for repairing the damage, the final cutting of long stubs can be conveniently left for a time, but wounds or breaks on the main trunk, or close to it, should be attended to promptly, in any case before warm weather arrives.

Leave Cavities Open.

It is not necessary to fill cavities.
It is better in most cases to leave them
open. All final cuts should be immediately covered with some good antiseptic and waterproof paint. It will not be necessary to specially treat the ends of long stubs that are to be removed close to the trunk later in the season.

In no part of repair work should climbing spurs be used on a tree. Spur marks cause injuries through which it is possible for disease and decay germs to enter and cause damage. In some cases more severe than would have developed from the original simple break. For details of treatment of all scars and wounds send for a copy of Farmers' Bulletin 1178, which can be obtained from the Office of Publications, Department of Agriculture,
Washington, D. C.

Remember that prevention is better than cure. The open wound of today becomes the decayed spot of next year and the deep rotten cavity of ten years from now. It is better to spend a few days or dollars in careful repair work now than hundreds of dollars for extensive tree surgery in 1930.

New Disease of Peaches

Discovered in Indiana

Purdue university experts are seeking a remedy or prevention for bacterium pruni, a new disease of peaches
which has caused much loss in southern Indiana, and are asking orchardists to be on the lookout for evidences of the disease in nursery stock. The disease is most pronounced on the leaves, causing irregular, purplish spots and causing the leaves to fall, weakening the tree. On the fruit the disease is in smaller spots but a more decided purplish color, and on the year-old or younger wood it appears purplish brown, often causing slightly raised cankers around the leaf scars.
It is thought wind-driven rain spreads the disease. So far no remedy has been found.

Undesirable Flavors or Odors May Be Prevented

Silage odors are absorbed largely through the body of the cow rather than from the air, according to tests made by the United States Department of Agriculture. However, these odors may be practically or entirely removed by the aeration of the milk while it is still warm. Rather heavy feeds of silage may be given to cows one hour after milking without any undesirable flavors or odors passing into the milk.
When green alfalfa was fed in relatively large quantities one hour before milking marked flavors and odors were noticed in the milk, but when as much as 30 pounds per cow was fed after milking there was no effect on the milk from the next milking.

Potatoes Taste Sweet

The reason for potatoes becoming sweet and disagreeable to the taste is that they have been stored at too low a temperature. Below 40 degrees the starch in the potato is converted into sugar, according to John Bushnell, of the Ohio experiment station. When this occurs it is only necessary to store them for a few days at an ordinary room temperature to bring them back normal.

Real Meaning of Words Used Almost Every Day

When a person is in an unhappy predicament—"between the devil and the deep sea"—he is sometimes said to be "between Scylla and Charybdis." According to a Greek legend, these were two monsters, one of which lurked on each side of a narrow sea passage. In steering his vessel in such a way as to escape one the unlucky mariner fell into the clutches of the other.

There are two words—panic and hygienic—which we use almost every day. "Panic" is a sudden, unreasoning fear of something. It is derived from the name of the god of shepherds
—Pan—whose presence as he lurked invisible amongst the thickets or reeds,
made itself felt by mortals, and suddenly smote them with a fear so acute that they fled from the unseen.
"Hygienic" is derived from the name of the goddess of health—Hygieia.

How many people realize when they speak of putting an animal into a lethal chamber that the name comes from Lethe—a river on the borders of Hades—whose waters brought forgetfulness to whoever drank of them? And when they describe something as being in a state of "chaos" do they ever think that they are naming the first of all the old heathen gods—Chaos—who ruled over confusion before any other gods existed?

"Under his aegis" is another phrase often used. "Aegis" was the name of the shield of the goddess of wisdom, Minerva, and is used to indicate what the shield afforded—protection.

Repair Shade and Ornamental Trees

Suggestions on Proper Methods to Follow in Mending Damage of Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The extensive injury and destruction of trees of all kinds during the winter season has brought many inquiries to the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the proper methods to be followed in repairing the damage done. The following suggestions are made by the department:

The first thing that should be done is to remove such large broken branches as are now, or may become, a menace to life and property; this is usually best done by cutting at the point where broken. Attention should then be given to injuries on the main trunk. If limbs have been split, or partially split, from the main trunk, all splintered wood about the wound should be removed with a sharp gouge and mallet, if not so situated that it can be sawed off. The scar should be smoothed in the manner indicated in Farmers' Bulletin 1178, Tree Surgery, and treated as an open cavity, or as a large surface wound, as the case may necessitate.

Repair Larger Branches.

Attention should next be given to repairing the injuries on the larger branches in a similar manner, and last of all to the smaller branches. Sometimes when a limb is broken away the tree is so weakened at the point of breakage that it may again break in a severe wind, and to obviate this the top must be pruned back more or less severely. In case of split crotches, the advice given in Farmers' Bulletin 1178 should be followed regarding the general treatment, including bolting through and above the crack.

In cases of estates where a great amount of injury has occurred, and only a comparatively small force is available for repairing the damage, the final cutting of long stubs can be conveniently left for a time, but wounds or breaks on the main trunk, or close to it, should be attended to promptly, in any case before warm weather arrives.

Leave Cavities Open.

It is not necessary to fill cavities. It is better in most cases to leave them open. All final cuts should be immediately covered with some good antiseptic and waterproof paint. It will not be necessary to specially treat the ends of long stubs that are to be removed close to the trunk later in the season.

In no part of repair work should climbing spurs be used on a tree. Spur marks cause injuries through which it is possible for disease and decay germs to enter and cause damage. In some cases more severe than would have developed from the original simple break. For details of treatment of all scars and wounds send for a copy of Farmers' Bulletin 1178, which can be obtained from the Office of Publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Remember that prevention is better than cure. The open wound of today becomes the decayed spot of next year and the deep rotten cavity of ten years from now. It is better to spend a few days or dollars in careful repair work now than hundreds of dollars for extensive tree surgery in 1930.

Discovered in Indiana

Purdue university experts are seeking a remedy or prevention for bacterium pruni, a new disease of peaches which has caused much loss in southern Indiana, and are asking orchardists to be on the lookout for evidences of the disease in nursery stock. The disease is most pronounced on the leaves, causing irregular, purplish spots and causing the leaves to fall, weakening the tree. On the fruit the disease is in smaller spots but a more decided purplish color, and on the year-old or younger wood it appears purplish brown, often causing slightly raised cankers around the leaf scars. It is thought wind-driven rain spreads the disease. So far no remedy has been found.

Undesirable Flavors or Odors May Be Prevented

Silage odors are absorbed largely through the body of the cow rather than from the air, according to tests made by the United States Department of Agriculture. However, these odors may be practically or entirely removed by the aeration of the milk while it is still warm. Rather heavy feeds of silage may be given to cows one hour after milking without any undesirable flavors or odors passing into the milk. When green alfalfa was fed in relatively large quantities one hour before milking marked flavors and odors were noticed in the milk, but when as much as 30 pounds per cow was fed after milking there was no effect on the milk from the next milking.

Potatoes Taste Sweet

The reason for potatoes becoming sweet and disagreeable to the taste is that they have been stored at too low a temperature. Below 40 degrees the starch in the potato is converted into sugar, according to John Bushnell, of the Ohio experiment station. When this occurs it is only necessary to store them for a few days at an ordinary room temperature to bring them back normal.

Real Meaning of Words Used Almost Every Day

When a person is in an unhappy predicament—"between the devil and the deep sea"—he is sometimes said to be "between Scylla and Charybdis." According to a Greek legend, these were two monsters, one of which lurked on each side of a narrow sea passage. In steering his vessel in such a way as to escape one the unlucky mariner fell into the clutches of the other.

There are two words—panic and hygienic—which we use almost every day. "Panic" is a sudden, unreasoning fear of something. It is derived from the name of the god of shepherds—Pan—whose presence as he lurked invisible amongst the thickets or reeds, made itself felt by mortals, and suddenly smote them with a fear so acute that they fled from the unseen. "Hygienic" is derived from the name of the goddess of health—Hygeia.

How many people realize when they speak of putting an animal into a lethal chamber that the name comes from Lethe—a river on the borders of Hades—whose waters brought forgetfulness to whoever drank of them? And when they describe something as being in a state of "chaos" do they ever think that they are naming the first of all the old heathen gods—Chaos—who ruled over confusion before any other gods existed?

"Under his aegis" is another phrase often used. "Aegis" was the name of the shield of the goddess of wisdom, Minerva, and is used to indicate what the shield afforded—protection.

Permanently Wise Man

Wisdom is like electricity. There is no permanently wise man, but men capable of wisdom, who, being put into certain company, or other favorable condition, become wise for a short time, as glasses rubbed acquire electric power for a while.—Emerson.

Michigan state supreme court ordered that a proposed constitutional amendment to compel all children of school age to attend public schools be submitted to the voters at the November election.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

HERRICK DRY AIR SYSTEM REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators
The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.
The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. It does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.
And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.
Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—
No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
No. 2. Effective Insulation.
No. 3. Air-tight construction.
That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.
Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

No Set Style for Milady's Sleeves
Latest Arm Coverings Allow for All Fashions Thus Far Mentioned.

The present generous temper of the mode provides equally for her whose arms are symmetrical and her whose elbows are either acutely thin or over-plump. For sleeves, according to the dicta from Paris, may be long or short, loose or tight, voluminous or entirely absent.
Jenny is quite impartial in her collection. She features the very short sleeve, the very long one and none at all. The long sleeves are tight fitting to the elbow, from where they develop into a combination of the bell shape and the gauntlet cuff. They fit closely about the wrist and then flare gradually to halfway between the wrist and the elbow. At this point they are joined to the three-quarters long bell-shaped upper. These sleeves are frequently made of two materials or two colors of the same material. The gauntlet portion may be trimmed with rows of tiny buttons.
Chanel is equally tolerant. Her models show sleeves which are long or short, loose or tight fitting. Her inclinations are slightly partisan in the direction of the moderately loose sleeve, which is finished with a narrow wristband. A very tailored, trim effect is achieved through the setting in of the sleeves exactly at the shoulder line.
Agnes makes no secret of her preference for the short sleeve, occasionally set in, and occasionally cut in kimono style. A feature of this type is the small turn-back cuff, which matches the collar of the dress. The infrequent long sleeves included in this designer's showing are invariably bell shaped.

Short Sleeves for Street Costume.

Anna (Jeanne Halle) sponsors arm coverings of all lengths, from the extremely short to the long, tight-fitting type. Many of the long sleeves are finished with flaring cuffs, which either turn back or fall down over the hand.
In a word, almost any kind of sleeve is sanctioned by the mode. There are no restraining influences—long, short, loose, tight, all have joined the ranks of the fashionables and are equally en regle.

Latitude in Styles Is Noticeable This Season
Such wide latitude in styles is shown that the leading vogue is difficult to define. The straightline, the chemise frock, oftenest beaded and embroidered for evening wear, holds its popularity.
Many variants of this silhouette are shown in the new silky fabrics, with the introduction of novel effects in panels, scarfs, sashes, capes. There are efforts to revive the pannier, and the circular skirt and godet are successfully done by some. But the novelty of the moment is the tunic.
This model, breaking the line between the tubellike frock and the full-swinging skirt, is a grateful novelty which promises to develop in many attractive phases. Simultaneously there are appearing new forms of the sleeve, the future of which is awaited with interest.

Black Shoes Popular
Black shoes seem to have captured the fancy of the moment. They are a great relief after the variegated sandals of red and purple and green which every modiste's assistant is now wearing in Paris. Both in patent and in lustrous kid these are good form, and evening slippers also of black satin or more buckled with paste or wrought silver clasps give great distinction.

Sports Coat of Silk
New figured silks are inspired by the magic touch of a famous Russian artist. The designs and colors are exceptionally brilliant. A three-quarter length sports coat of silk in which red and black are the predominating colors is simply trimmed with bands of silver gumpie and wider folds of red crepe de chine. The effect is wonderfully fresh and colorful.

Insects Lead All
It is computed that there are five times as many different kinds of insects as there are species of all other living things put together. Seventy years ago the number of species of insects preserved in collections was about 170,000. Today it is estimated that there are 750,000 sorts, and that without counting the parasitic creatures. In Europe alone there are 350,000 species. Most insects live on trees or plants. There are known to be 450 sorts which make their home in oak trees, and about 200 in the pine. Of beetles alone the varieties exceed 190,000.

Bill—Why the gloomy look, Joe?
Joe—I'm in trouble. My wife overheard me telling Steve Jackson that I had had two misses in my car the evening before.

"But she found out that only one of them was in the engine."

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

HERRICK DRY AIR SYSTEM REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

STATEMENT

Made by James A. White, Republican Candidate for Governor.

James A. White, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in a statement following the recent conference said:

"Altho the meeting which has just adjourned was called to do a vain thing and did it, there were certain gains which should not be overlooked. It was clearly proved that the country sections of the state, when united for a purpose they believe to be right, can check-mate the more closely organized city centers.

"The large measure of dislike to the primary election laws was shown in a way to convince the friends of that measure of independent political action, they will have to use it and will have to fight for it in the future. Many attorneys believe that the action taken by the convention cannot be effective without first amending the constitution which provides for the primary system.

"The fact that not a single candidate could be found who would accept the endorsement of so much of the group as was ready to give it, is a clear indication of the healthy public and political sentiment of Ohio.

"The clear cut and genuine enthusiasm shown for President Coolidge indicate that on fundamental matters of Republicanism Ohioans are united, even tho they are divided on the less important matter of candidates.

"The workers of the Republican party had an opportunity to see, measure and judge the candidates who are asking for their support.

"An extraordinary interest in the August primaries was aroused. By these facts, material progress was made towards a sane and helpful leadership for the Republican party in Ohio this fall."

Dolls Long Popular.

There is ample evidence that the use of dolls as an assistance to the operations of the young mind dates from the most remote times. Among the native tribes of Africa it was the custom of married women to carry a doll with them until they had a child, when the doll was discarded.

TAXES INCREASED.

The total levies of general property taxes over the United States have increased 160 per cent in the ten year period extending from 1913 to 1922, according to the official figures made public by the National Bureau of the Census. For every man, woman and child in the country there was in 1922 an average tax paid on "general property" amounting to $32.22, according to these same figures, the total for the nation amounting for that year to $3,502,941,000. In 1912, the average of the general tax levy per capita was $13.91 and the total for the United States was $1,349,841,000. The United States, however, does not stand alone in this increased expense account. In many nations it is double that of this country.

The Culvers of Ancient Syria.

Did you ever hear the pigeon spoken of as the culver? Well, years, yes, hundreds of years ago, John Mandeville, an Englishman, wrote in a very wonderful book of travels, which some claim is a greatly exaggerated account of what he saw, about the culvers of Syria, and how men in war times, not daring to send messengers, sent their messages around the neck of a culver. This odd book was published before printing was invented, and was done by hand.

SCHOOL CLOSING

Twelve Graduates in Class of Amanda High School.
One of the largest and best graduation exercises ever held at Amanda high school was that of the class of 1924, having a membership of 12.
The class address was given by Dean Maccracken, of Ohio university. Olive Huston read the class history. Roscoe Clements the prophecy and orations were given by Harold Alspach and Mildred Thomas. Stout's trio of Lancaster furnished a program of music.
Diplomas were presented to the following graduates by I. E. Alspach, president of the board of education of Amanda, Harold Alspach, Roscoe Clements, Doyle Haas, Herbert Ruff, Floyd Wolford, John Walters, Glenn Hiatt, Mildred Thomas, Edith Gortner, Mary Creaglow, Chester Blue, and Oliver Huston. County Superintendent J. F. Bemiller also gave a short talk at the exercises.
All business houses in Amanda were closed from 12 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 20, during the annual school closing activities which were attended by over a thousand people.
A school exhibit including displays of drawing, health posters, manuscripts, mechanical drawings, papers from the French and Latin classes and product of the domestic science department, was greatly appreciated by the spectators.
Following a noon lunch served by the ladies of the community, a baseball game was played in which the high school defeated the alumni by the score of 8 to 7. A girls game was also played and a pole vaulting contest held. A program of recitations and of musical numbers was given by each of the elementary grades.—Lancaster Eagle.

OHIO FRUIT CROP IS NOT HURT BY FROST.

Only four May days since 1911 have been colder than Thursday, when the temperature dropped to 37 at 6 a. m., bringing with it a central Ohio frost that proved killing to flowers, buds and a few garden products, but left the fruit crop unharmed.
Records at the local weather bureau show that May this year has been almost as cool as May, 1917, which was a record for all time. The mean temperature for the first 21 days of the month was 56 degrees, while the 1917 mean was 55.1. A few more days like Thursday they will make a new record for May.
May 3 and 14, 1920, had temperatures of 34 degrees; May 2, 1911, 33, and May 3, 1911, 35, these four being the only dates recording cooler temperatures than Thursday's. Some of the more exposed areas, such as Bellefontaine, Napoleon, Lima, Bucyrus and Circleville, had from 27 to 31 degrees, Bellefontaine being the coldest spot in Ohio. Frosts in May are not unusual. Weatherman William H. Alexander said. In 1882, 1883, 1888, 1895, 1907, 1911, 1913 and '17 frosts of varying degrees occurred. June frosts are not uncommon, either, he stated.
The normal temperature for May 22, is 64 degrees, computed over a period of 45 years. The lowest was 35 in 1883. May has an accumulated deficiency of temperature of 96 degrees.

AMUSEMENTS

Hearts as storm-tossed and passions as swirling as the stinging sea that is their background, make Max Graf's production of "Half-a-Dollar-Bill," a new Metro picture that opened at the Met theater yesterday one of the most unusual sea dreams ever screened.
"Half-a-Dollar-Bill" has everything to make splendid motion picture entertainment—a story that throbs with struggle and drama, exciting action, vivid picturesque atmosphere, and a cast with such sterling players as Anna Q. Nilsson, William T. Carleton, Raymond Hatton, Mitchell Lewis, George MacQuarrie and Alec B. Francis. Frankie Darro, a four year old juvenile actor of remarkable ability, has the title role. This is the first screen appearance, and he gives a truly great performance, entering into the various scenes as if his very life depended upon what he did.
Acting is Natural.
His naturalness was wonderful to behold; indeed, it appeared perfectly easy for him to play in scenes as long as he had one of the two dogs in the picture with him. These dogs, Cameo and Irish, incidentally, are quite important in the plot, and act with fine technique.
The direction has been handled by W. S. Van Dyck in a way that creates tense suspense and brings out the big situations of the story in telling fashion. No spectator can keep down a lump in the throat at the pathos of some scenes, or could help grinding his teeth and biting his lips in excitement at others. One wants to cheer when the villain is successfully defeated and the boy is restored to his mother.
Andre Barlatier photographed the production and Alfred A. Cohen wrote the titles. Max Graf personally supervised the production. "Half-a-Dollar-Bill" can be recommended to every movie-goer, for it has every quality of appeal. Its thrills are real thrills, its acting distinguished and its story excellent.

A FREAK EGG.

Mrs. Thomas Shepherd of near Robtown brought to the News office Saturday a freak egg which is worthy of comment.
The egg was unusually large, had a dark colored shell and the form was similar to that of a duck egg. A fully developed normal egg was within the outer shell and was plainly discernible. The weight was 4½ ounces and circumferences were 8 3-8 inches by 7 1-8 inches. — Ashville-Pickaway News.

The Loving Cup.

The origin of the loving cup is hazy. Some investigators have asserted that its beginning was the wassail bowl, belonging to festivities antedating the Christian era, and that on the advent of Christianity the custom of wassailing assumed a religious aspect. The monks called the wassail bowl the "pocalum caritatis" (loving cup). The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed at the Jewish pascal supper and on other notable occasions.

WATCH IT GROW.

Henry H. Granger, of Bogota, Columbia, has deposited $10 in the government bank under a contract or agreement that compound interest is to be paid for 1,000 years, at the end of that period the principal and accumulated interest is to be divided equally between the United States and Columbia. At the present interest rate the fund will total over five thousand five hundred trillions of dollars. In view of this legacy why worry over a mere matter of a dozen paltry billions of debts?

Are Bachelors Funny?

A bachelor may be legal, but there is always something funny about him. In the case of an old maid, there is always the possible excuse that her lover died, but if a man wanted to get married he wouldn't pay any attention to a thing like that.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

The Wise Man.

He is the wisest man who would have the least to do with the multitude.... It is not for the wise man to be much affected with the censures of the rude and unskillful vulgar, but, to hold fast unto his own well-chosen and well-fixed resolutions; every fool knows what is wont to be done; but what is best to be done, is known only to the wise.—Joseph Hall.

Why Archie Muffed It.

It was at a cricket match in Australia. A tremendous skyer had been hit and the fielder was in fair way to catch the batter out. At this tense moment one of the spectators called out, "Miss it, Archie, and I'll let you kiss my sister."

Furs and Feathers.

From the dawn of human history furs and feathers have been used to satisfy our taste and need for clothing and adornment. Our most primitive ancestors were connoisseurs in the plumage of birds and the pelts of animals and admired them for their possibilities in furnishing himself and his family with raiment and adornment, and so do we...

The Old Cry.

It doesn't make any difference what happens, somebody is bound to arise to whisper that it is crooked. We overheard this man talking on a street car yesterday. There's nothing the human family enjoys better than being suspicious of somebody or something.—Detroit Free Press.

Regard Heads of Foes as Greatest Trophies

The vast forest regions lying on either side of the Amazon are probably the least known and the most dangerous portions of the world. All this is brought out forcibly in Charles W. Domville-Fife's book, "Among Wild Tribes of the Amazons."

The tribes are full of strange and barbarous customs. Most of them regard the heads of slain enemies as great trophies. Mr. Domville-Fife managed to discover in one tribe the place where the heads were prepared.

"Here at last was the secret death-house of the Huambisa. The floor was hard with congealed blood drained from human bodies for unknown years. At frequent intervals this fierce tribe attacks neighboring villages, capturing the women and girls and killing the men. The bodies of those slain are then decapitated and the heads brought back in triumph.

"These ghastly trophies are stuck on lances, and the tribe assemblies round them for a wild night orgy. Drinking, feasting and unnamable debauchery continue until dawn, when the heads are removed by the witch doctors to the death house."

One of the most mysterious stories told by Mr. Domville-Fife is about the poison called yage which gives to people who take it the power of describing events "of which they can never have either seen or heard in full consciousness. European cities, music and current events have been pictured in detail unprovided for by the meager vocabulary of the native dialect, and only possible of communication with the aid of rough drawings."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Good to Be Done.

Love and Life at Vigo

Love at a distance until you are engaged is the rule in Spain. As a result of that somewhat inconvenient custom lovers are driven to strange expedients to communicate with each other. Consider the gentleman of Vigo whom Mr. Ralph Stock tells about in the "Cruise of the Dream Ship."

Picture, if you can, says Mr. Stock, a well-dressed Spanish gentleman standing in the middle of one of the main thoroughfares and gazing toward one of the housetops; he is apparently engaged in practicing the deaf-and-dumb alphabet. No one of the stream of pedestrians passing along the sidewalks takes the slightest notice of him; neither does the wheeled traffic, except to swerve obligingly out of his path. It is his affair, and a love affair at that. He is conversing with his innamorata at the third-floor balcony window yonder. It needed three vulgar sightseers such as the crew of the Dream Ship to find anything unusual in the proceeding. I am ashamed to say that the lady caught sight of us and pointed in alarm; whereupon the gentleman turned with an excusable frown of annoyance, and we hurried on our way.—Youth's Companion.

The Wise Man.

He is the wisest man who would have the least to do with the multitude.... It is not for the wise man to be much affected by the censures of the rude and unskillful vulgar, but, to hold fast unto his own well-chosen and well-fixed resolutions; every fool knows what is wont to be done; but what is best to be done, is known only to the wise.—Joseph Hall.

Why Archie Muffed It.

It was at a cricket match in Australia. A tremendous skyer had been hit and the fielder was in fair way to catch the batter out. At this tense moment one of the spectators called out, "Miss it, Archie, and I'll let you kiss my sister."

Furs and Feathers.

From the dawn of human history furs and feathers have been used to satisfy our taste and need for clothing and adornment. Our most primitive ancestors were connoisseurs of the plumage of birds and the pelts of animals and admired them for their possibilities in furnishing himself and his family with raiment and adornment, and so do we.

The Old Cry.

It doesn't make any difference what happens, somebody is bound to arise to whisper that it is crooked. We overheard this man talking on a street car yesterday. There's nothing the human family enjoys better than being suspicious of somebody or something.—Detroit Free Press.

Origin of Expression
of "Mind Ps and Qs"

No very satisfactory explanation has ever been given for the origin of the expression, "Mind your Ps and Qs." Some say the admonition originally referred to children learning the alphabet, or to printers setting type, from the fact that "p" and "q" have a similar appearance and are easily confused, especially in a font or type.

An odd origin of the expression is given as follows: In the old-time bar-rooms it was customary to do a credit business. In the accounts "P" stood for pints and "Q" for quarts. Naturally when it came to settling up it was advisable for the customer to "mind his Ps and Qs."

Still another explanation is ventured. In France during the reign of Louis XIV, huge wigs were worn and curls and bows were made with great formality. In making the bow a short step was taken forward. Hence dancing masters would tell their pupils to mind their "pieds and queues," "pied" being the French word for foot and being pronounced almost like our letter "p."—Detroit News.

Flour Production

There are approximately 265 flour mills in Palestine ranging from the most primitive kind to some with the most modern installations, according to consular advices to the Department of Commerce. Of these 265, it is estimated that 135 are of primitive construction driven by man, animal, and water power and that the remaining 130 are operated by steam or oil engines. There has been an increasing tendency toward the adoption of modern methods and the equipment of many mills with simple machinery during the past few years has so operated to reduce the cost of grinding flour that the Arab population which was accustomed to rely upon the simple grinding stone manipulated by hand or by animal, is being induced to transport wheat for comparatively long distances in order to avail themselves of the power mills.

Agreed.

"We want more honest men in politics," exclaimed the reformer. "That's right," agreed the practical politician. "The more honest men we have in politics the less politics will cost."

Got Off Easy

The town bum had been arrested on suspicion, as he always was when a minor crime had been committed in Hickville. On the most recent occasion Zeke was defended by a young lawyer who was making his maiden speech. The case was lost and Zeke was sentenced to ten days and fined ten dollars. "Thanks, Mr. Judge," said Zeke with a relieved countenance and better courtroom presence than was usual. "Thank me," bellowed the judge, suspecting sarcasm. "What do you thank me for?" But Zeke was innocent of witticism. "I sure thought my character and that boy's pleading would hang me."

One of the Meanest

The mean man ate a good meal at a restaurant and then, when he had finished, dropped a half dollar on the floor.

"Walter," he said, as he paid his bill, "I just dropped two half dollars. Find them for me, will you?"

The waiter disappeared under the table and in a short time emerged very red in the face.

"I've found one of them, sir," he said.

"Thanks," said the man as he pocketed the coin and rose. "When you find the other keep it for yourself—tip, you know."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Origin of Expression of "Mind Ps and Qs"

No very satisfactory explanation has ever been given for the origin of the expression, "Mind your Ps and Qs." Some say the admonition originally referred to children learning the alphabet, or to printers setting type, from the fact that "p" and "q" have a similar appearance and are easily confused, especially in a font of type.

An odd origin of the expression is given as follows: In the old-time bar-rooms it was customary to do a credit business. In the accounts "P" stood for pints and "Q" for quarts. Naturally when it came to settling up it was advisable for the customer to "mind his Ps and Qs."

Still another explanation is ventured. In France during the reign of Louis XIV, huge wigs were worn and curls and bows were made with great formality. In making the bow a short step was taken forward. Hence dancing masters would tell their pupils to mind their "pieds and queues," "pied" being the French word for foot and being pronounced almost like our letter "p."—Detroit News.

Flour Production

There are approximately 265 flour mills in Palestine ranging from the most primitive kind to some with the most modern installations, according to consular advices to the Department of Commerce. Of these 265, it is estimated that 135 are of primitive construction driven by man, animal, and water power and that the remaining 130 are operated by steam or oil engines. There has been an increasing tendency toward the adoption of modern methods and the equipment of many mills with simple machinery during the past few years has so operated to reduce the cost of grinding flour that the Arab population which was accustomed to rely upon the simple grinding stone manipulated by hand or by animal, is being induced to transport wheat for comparatively long distances in order to avail themselves of the power mills.

Agreed.

"We want more honest men in politics," exclaimed the reformer. "That's right," agreed the practical politician. "The more honest men we have in politics the less politics will cost."

Got Off Easy

The town bum had been arrested on suspicion, as he always was when a minor crime had been committed in Hickville. On the most recent occasion Zeke was defended by a young lawyer who was making his maiden speech. The case was lost and Zeke was sentenced to ten days and fined ten dollars. "Thanks, Mr. Judge," said Zeke with a relieved countenance and better courtroom presence than was usual. "Thank me," belittled the judge, suspecting sarcasm. "What do you thank me for?" But Zeke was innocent of witticism. "I sure thought my character and that boy's pleading would hang me."

One of the Meanest

The mean man ate a good meal at a restaurant and then, when he had finished, dropped a half dollar on the floor.

"Walter," he said, as he paid his bill, "I just dropped two half dollars. Find them for me, will you?"

The waiter disappeared under the table and in a short time emerged very red in the face.

"I've found one of them, sir," he said.

"Thanks," said the man as he pocketed the coin and rose. "When you find the other keep it for yourself—tip, you know."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Bright Blue Gown

The tide ran high, the tide ran low.
(Oh, heave away, away, away!)
We left our port at morning glow,
Before the breeze began to blow,
And said farewell to harbor town.
(Oh, heave away, my hearties!)

The waves rolled up, the waves rolled down.
(Let out more sail, more sail, more sail!)

We saw the last of our old town.
Its chimneys red, its roofs so brown
I saw but Nancy's bright blue gown.
(Let out more sail, my hearties!)

The gulls flew here, the gulls flew there.
(Now port the helm, the helm, the helm!)

The wind was fresh, the day was fair,
Our vessel sailed with jaunty air,
And we had health and strength to spare.
(Now port the helm, my hearties!)

The ocean rose, the ocean fell.
(Watch out ahead, ahead, ahead!)
We bravely took each dip and swell,
And loved to hear the wild wind yell
In rigging where it whistled well.
(Watch out ahead, my hearties!)

We cast to left, we cast to right.
(Let down the nets, the nets, the nets!)

And when we hauled with all our might,
It was, indeed, a goodly sight
To find our nets no longer light.
(Let down the nets, my hearties!)

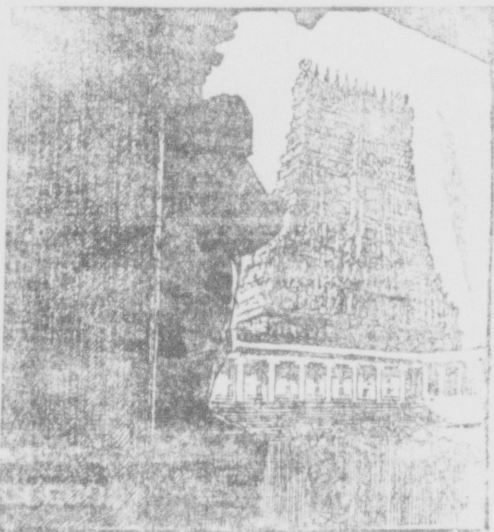

We cut the foam, we cut the spray.
(Now head for home, for home, for home!)

And every heart aboard was gay.
Our harbor soon before us lay—
I saw but Nancy's gown, I say!
(Now head for home, my hearties!)

Meenochee at Madura Is World's Oldest Skyscraper

One of the greatest and most elaborate of Indian temples—the Meenochee at Madura. This huge building might be called the oldest skyscraper.

A Composer's Comedy

The book of Richard Strauss' new comic opera, "Intermezzo," has been based by its librettist upon an incident in the composer's life.

One day Strauss was playing cards
when he was advised of his wife's intention to sue for a divorce. He at once made inquiries and discovered that he was accused of being over-friendly with a pretty girl, who alleged to the lawyers that she had arranged to meet the composer in a cafe
the next afternoon. Strauss denied the appointment, but turned up at the cafe, where he learned that a young musical conductor had been impersonating him. Domestic harmony was restored, and Hermann Bahr, the librettist, utilized the story for the new opera.

Made His Meaning Clear

A woman whose divorce case was assigned to Judge Guy A. Miller in Circuit court charged her husband was cruel and penurious. Judge Miller followed her testimony and sought to have the witness tell just how negligently
the husband had been. "You say your husband never gave you any money? Now how often did you ask him for it?" asked the court. "Well, that's all I did, sir, until one day I asked him for car fare and he struck me in the eye," she replied.
"And he didn't give it to you?" "No," replied the witness, "but I knew what he meant."

Modern Portia Triumphs

When Charles Eyles, charged with fraud, was arraigned in Old Bailey in London he was asked to select a barrister for his defense. Looking over the small crowd of barristers present, he pointed to one and said: "That young man," who turned out to be Mrs. Helena Normanton. He was found not guilty. Judge Athelny Jones at the conclusion of the trial commended the young woman for her skill and urbanity.

Her Error

She was a very inexperienced traveler and she eyed the scenery with absorbing interest. At length she turned to the woman who shared her seat
and asked timidly, "What is that car
just ahead of this one?"

"Why, that is the smoker," she was told.

"Gracious," was her amazing reply.
"I thought all that smoke was coming from the engine."

SCHOOL DISPLAYS

All Should See Manual Training and Domestic Science Work.

A visit to the high school gymnasium this evening will interest any reader of this paper. A large number of people saw work of the students of the manual training and domestic science departments Thursday evening and it is a most wonderful display.
It shows that the kids have been paying close attention to their work and that they have something to show for it. Professor C. F. Zaenglein, of the manual training, and Miss Helen Skeele, teacher of domestic science, have every reason to feel chesty and proud of the work done by their students.

It is worth your while to pay the show a visit. It is more than entertaining.

"The Old Fashioned Mother," a playlet, that was recently given at the Presbyterian church will be given at the high school auditorium this evening. You can see that, too.

COURAGEOUS REPUBLICANS.

President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill was admitted even by his enemies and its friends to be an act of great courage. But consider the greater courage of the 30 Republican senators who voted to override his veto and so made the bill law. They had to face the ordeal of standing up and repudiating their own president.
That took courage. They had to confess that the Republican party is a shattered and leaderless organization.
That took courage. They had to rise and present to their Democratic opponents an issue and a cry which will resound to the hurt of the Republicans all thru the presidential election.
That took courage. They were called upon to acknowledge publicly what has before been known only in private that they dislike the president, that they do not mean to support him honestly, and that they would witness his defeat next November without a tear.
That took courage. The whole group of them, from Curtis to Lodge and Warren ought to be presented with a special medal for bravery.

Nor did their courage stop with the manifestations just cited. They bodin took a stand that logically means the defeat of tax revision and the end of the hope of a reduction of tax burdens. On an already threatened deficit they piled an additional $146,000,000. Under the guise of passing an insurance bill for veterans, they opened, as they well knew, a door thru which the triumphant lobbyists for the bonus will press instantly with demands for larger payments in cash. Instead of making an end of the bonus in our politics, they made sure that it will continue there in a still more mischief-breeding form. While praising courage, do not forget to give a high place to that of these Republican senators who could face such dread consequences without blanching.

There is a kind of courage which verges on recklessness and insanity.
Moral philosophers have defined it as "The courage of fools." The exhibition of it which the Republican senators have given, the country can survive. But can they outlive it? Can their party recover from the frightful blow they have given it? These are questions which no one will be asking today with more anxiety than loyal Republicans.—New York Times.

Terrible Suspense.

"The suspense of this continued
story is terrible," said Miss Pansy Pyetin. "There's a report at the postoffice that the magazine isn't coming out next month."

The exhibition of it which the Republican senators have given, the country can survive. But can they outlive it? Can their party recover from the frightful blow they have given it? These are questions which no one will be asking today with more anxiety than loyal Republicans.—New York Times.
